Finkl Scholarships Awarded by Forging Industry Educational and Research Foundation

Cleveland, Ohio -- Forging Industry Educational and Research Foundation (FIERF) has awarded fourteen $3000 Finkl Scholarships to university engineering students enrolling in their junior year this fall. The program continues to support eighteen students awarded scholarships in 2004.

The scholarships are named in memory of Charles W. Finkl's years of commitment and contributions to education and the forging industry that included over twenty-five years of service on the FIERF Board of Trustees, twice serving as president.

Scholarships were awarded to:

Ashlie Flegel, University of Toledo
Kevin Fogarty, Ohio University
Zachary Fredin, Case Western Reserve University
Vineet Hingwe, University of Michigan
Scott Julien, University of Missouri – Rolla
Kevin Kirch, Ohio University
Keith Knippen, University of Toledo
Kyle Koning, Illinois Institute of Technology
Michael McVetta, University of Toledo
Lisa Molitoris, Ohio University
Megan Ross, Michigan Technological University
Gage Soehner, Colorado School of Mines
Andrew Thiel, Colorado School of Mines
